

Emil Landén, Project Developer

With a background growing up in Åre municipality, in the small village of Mörsil, I have a desire to work globally.

I am very interested in development and I am driven to understand context, situations and to find innovative solutions. I am somewhat of an ideas man, efficient in breaking the ice if a situation has stalled – I see no limits into finding new ideas. My technical background as CNC-operator is an advantage when I often come in contact with high tech companies. My beacon is my interest in environment and sustainability.

- Leadership & Integrated management systems with ISO-standards, Mittuniversitet
- IT – Technical College, CAD-Design and Business Planning
- Studies within environmentally driven innovation
- Project development
- Intelligence